

GERMAK IMPROVES: WOMAN'S CONDITION SERIOUS

GUY FOUND NOT GUILTY OF DEATH OF WANDERWELL

The Murder Of Soldier Of Fortune Remains Unsolved Today

Long Beach, Calif., Feb. 17 — (AP)—The state's explanation of the sensational slaying of Captain Walter Wanderwell — a mystery with background and developments rivaling detective fiction, was rejected by a jury.

The jury late last night freed 23-year-old William James 'Curly' Guy of the charge he slew the leader of an adventure-seeking band of eight young women and seven men, the night of last December 5.

The almost fantastic career of Wanderwell, 39-year-old Polish-born soldier of fortune, was ended by a pistol bullet aboard his yacht 'Carma,' docked in the ocean harbor here.

In a few days, the Carma, a former run-running craft bought at a customs auction, was to have put out for Hawaii, the South Seas and Oriental ports on a vagabond cruise for which the strangely assorted 'crew' members were charged $190 each.

Quarrel Held Motive Guy was not a member of the crew, but he and his wife were members of a 1931 automobile-ship expedition, Buenos Aires to San Francisco, which they left in Central America, after a quarrel with the leader, Wanderwell. This quarrel was offered by the prosecution as a motive for Wanderwell's killing.

Receiving the verdict with a characteristic smile and thanks to each of the jurors Guy was taken immediately to the county jail in Los Angeles to await disposition of a charge of illegally entering this country.

The charge has been pending almost since the time he was arrested December 7 in the murder case.

Jury Out Four Hours The jury reported a verdict after deliberating four and a half hours.

A. R. Montgomery, jury foreman, said the jurors believed lighting conditions about the yacht afforded too great a possibility for error by members of the crew who identified the debonair young Welshman as 'the stranger in gray' who appeared at a porthole and asked for Wanderwell just before the shooting.

Edwin Delarm, Arapahoe Indian aviator, and the latter's family testified Guy was at their home in Glendale, 30 miles from the harbor at the time Wanderwell was killed.

Department of Justice records list Wanderwell as Valerian Johannes Pieczynski, native of Poland, who was detained in a stockade at Atlanta, Ga., as a spy suspect.

Wanderwell claimed to have roved through 43 countries on four continents.

He is a native of Cardiff, Wales. He told of having been a cabin boy, soldier of fortune, boxer and 'beach comber.'

Rural Carriers Distributing Feed The hunting and trapping season for the 1932-33 season have closed and sportsmen of Dixon and vicinity are now awaiting the opening of the fishing season.

City Clerk Blake Grover has not received his regular supply of state fishing licenses to date, but it is expected that they will be available in ample time for the opening of the season.

Conservation Inspector Henry Kliest for the past two weeks has been busy engaged in distributing feed throughout Lee county and in adjoining counties for the feeding of birds. In this work he has been accorded the full cooperation of the rural mail carriers from the local postoffice.

Great Bargains In Dixon Today And Tomorrow

The Murder Of Soldier Of Fortune Remains Unsolved Today

Fair weather, cleared highways and the truly remarkable bargains offered by Dixon stores served to draw an exceptionally good crowd of shoppers to this city today—the first of Dixon's two big Dollar Days.

Every merchant co-operating in the great two-day carnival of bargains expressed himself as being more than pleased with the public's response to their efforts to give better values than can be found in any other city in this part of the state.

While the trade today was fine stocks were nowhere near depleted and tomorrow's shoppers will find complete lines and greater bargains than ever before in Dixon stores.

THREE SENATORS MEET PRESIDENT-ELECT ON TRAIN

Cabinet Possibilities To Confer With Next Chief Executive

Enroute with President-elect Roosevelt to New York, Feb. 17 — (AP)—President-elect Roosevelt and Senator Glass of Virginia, talked over the latter's entry into the Cabinet on the Roosevelt train from Washington to Baltimore today, seated in the observation car.

No decision was reached. It was stated definitely that a decision would not be made for one or two days.

En Route With President-elect Roosevelt to New York, Feb. 17 — (AP)—The United States Senators, all prospects for the new cabinet, had arranged for conferences today with President-elect Roosevelt. They were Senators Glass of Virginia, Hull of Tennessee and Cutting of New Mexico.

The Roosevelt train stopped early at Richmond, Va., to pick up Senator Hull. He goes on to Washington. Senators Glass and Cutting will be received during the brief train stop in Washington. Governor Pollard of Virginia visited the train during the brief stop to pay his respects.

Senator Glass is regarded as the key to the cabinet situation. He is the man Mr. Roosevelt has in mind for Secretary of the Treasury. Should the veteran Virginian find it impossible to take over the office he held once before under Woodrow Wilson, a realignment of cabinet forces is considered likely.

Hull For State Dept. Senator Hull is in the mind of Roosevelt for Secretary of State. It is believed possible he might be shifted to Treasury should Glass not go into that office.

Senator Cutting, one of the Republican independents who supported the Roosevelt presidential candidacy, is the choice of the President-elect for Secretary of Interior.

Today's conferences may bring definite decisions between Mr. Roosevelt and the Senate members on the cabinet positions. Senator Walsh of Montana is expected to take over the Attorney Generalship. He is also regarded as a likely choice for the next vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Farmers Arrested For Blocking Sale

Aledo, Ill., Feb. 17 — (AP)—Ray Westerdale, farmer of Reynolds, Ill., and five others have been arrested on indictments charging conspiracy to block a farm sale of Westerdale's livestock and machinery.

The indictments alleged that force was exerted at the sale Feb. 4 so that the property was bid in for $21.41, although a previous offer of more than $2,000 had been made.

Indicted with Westerdale, a tenant farmer, were his two brothers Harry of Altona and Claude of Galesburg, and Jonathan Wehler, Iowa, Harry Kell, Aledo, and Ellis Doonan, Reynolds. All were arrested by the Mercer county Sheriff, and bonds fixed at $1,000 each.

20,000 Bills Are Filed In Congress Washington, Feb. 17 — (AP)—In what national problems have members of the nearly-dead seventy-second Congress been most interested?

If the volume of bills introduced on the various issues is any indication, the answer would run something like this:

First, prohibition; second, farm relief; third, unemployment relief. That is the opinion of experts in the document rooms who have filed and catalogued the more than 20,000 individual pieces of legislation introduced during this Congress by Senators and Representatives.

Prohibition, including both the constitutional amendment and beer proposals, was concerned in more than 250 measures.

DELAY HEARING OF ZANGARA IN CRIMINAL COURT

Arraignment Of Would-Be Assassin Is Set For Tomorrow

BULLETIN Miami, Fla., Feb. 17 — (AP)—The Dade County Medical Association was asked today to appoint physicians on a sanitary commission to examine Giuseppe Zangara, charged with the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt.

The request was made by the three attorneys appointed by Criminal Court Judge E. C. Collins to defend Zangara.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17 — (AP)—Without hearing a single phase of the case, Criminal Judge E. C. Collins, in a five-minute court session, today postponed until tomorrow the arraignment of Giuseppe Zangara, charged with the attempted assassination of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Walking to the front of the courtroom, in front of the bench, Judge Collins briefly announced the appointment of three lawyers to represent the 33-year-old Italian, and then ordered him returned to the county jail pending formal arraignment at 10 A. M. tomorrow.

Arraignment of Zangara on charges of intent to murder three of five other persons, shot during an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Roosevelt, also was postponed until tomorrow.

Those three persons are Miss Margaret Krus of Newark, N. J.; William Sinnott, New York policeman, and Russell Caldwell of Coconut Grove, Fla.

Three Slightly Wounded They were slightly wounded when Zangara attempted to kill the President-elect shortly after he returned here Wednesday from a fishing cruise off the coast of Florida.

No charge has yet been placed against the man for the shooting of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago and Mrs. Joe Gill, Miami, who were seriously wounded during the affray. Authorities are withholding action in their case pending the outcome of their wounds.

Shortly before noon, Zangara, unshackled and nonchalant, was led into the courtroom by Chief Deputy Guy Reeve and Deputy O. J. Aug. /baugh, and seated inside the rail. The courtroom was filled and more than a hundred persons stood in the corridor.

Was Uninterested Dressed in a light blue spotted shirt, open at the throat, and white sport trousers and shoes, Zangara gazed uninterestedly about the courtroom and chatted intermittently with the two deputies, while waiting for Judge Collins to appear.

Sheriff Dan Harde had 20 deputies stationed throughout the crowded courtroom to prevent any possible demonstration against the assassin. There was no disturbance, but as the crowd was filling out of the door after the adjournment, Deputy Virgil Ector forcibly ejected an unidentified man, who attempted to loiter near the prisoner. The man was not arrested.

Judge Collins conferred briefly with the attorneys and then deputies escorted Zangara over to them for a conference.

Has Keen Nothing Six deputies surrounded Zangara as the spectators, craning necks for a good glimpse of the prisoner, filed out of the room. Zangara seemed uninterested in the crowd or the short proceedings.

Soon after the adjournment, the prisoner was led back to his cell in the jail atop the 21st floor of the county courthouse, where he again talked with the attorneys.

Since his arrest following the shooting Wednesday night, Zangara has taken no food. Yesterday morning he had a half cup of coffee and yesterday afternoon he took a full cup. He said he was dieting because of a stomach ailment.

Today, however, he requested an order of eggs, and deputies ordered it brought to him. Dr. E. C. Thomas, county physician, examined the prisoner, but made no comment.

Rumors of attempts that might be made to kidnap or lynch Zangara led today to the barring of all visitors from the jail where he is held.

Sheriff Dan Harde said he was unable to trace the reports of possible violence against the assassin but he placed a guard at the official elevator that operates to the top of the county building where the cell Zangara occupies is located.

UNKNOWN IN ITALY Rome, Feb. 7 — (AP)—A search of vital statistics and inquiry among civil authorities and police today failed to reveal any trace of Giuseppe Zangara, who tried to kill President-elect Roosevelt in Miami, Florida. The search was made in Ferrazzano, where the newspaper Piccolo said it had learned Zangara's father lived, and in the nearby towns Cambobasso and Mirabella.

HOUSE PASSAGE OF REPEAL ACT MONDAY ASSURED

Garner Will Force Vote Under Suspension Of House Rules

BULLETIN Washington, Feb. 17 — (AP)—The House Democrats in caucus today bound themselves to vote for prohibition repeal Monday under a suspension of the House rules. The vote was 115 to 46.

The vote was on a motion to bind themselves and was not on the proposed constitutional amendment.

This assures more than two-thirds of the Democrats will vote for the Senate prohibition repeal proposal.

Nearly two score of the Democrats gave notice that they desired to be excused from the iron rule of caucus because of previous commitments made to their constituents.

Many of the Democrats were absent when they are excused, they are found by its action—an action that at once leaders of both parties to take it for granted that the House on Monday will join the Senate in favoring repeal by more than the two-thirds vote necessary to send the resolution to the states.

Washington, Feb. 17 — (AP)—Confident House leaders today summoned their full strength to throw the Democratic majority solidly behind prohibition repeal and speed the Senate-approved Blaine repealer to the states.

Speaker Garner promised a House vote Monday under the drastic procedure of suspension of the rules. The repeal resolution was jammed through the Senate yesterday by 63 to 23.

A Democratic caucus was called for late this afternoon to bind the party's members to vote for repeal. Representative Snell, the Republican leader, gave assurance of more than 100 Republican votes.

Senate galleries were crowded as anti-prohibitionists rent dry lines to force the resolution by five votes more than the necessary two thirds. Vice President Curtis had to rap five minutes to restore order after the voting.

State Conventions The Blaine repealer provides for repeal of that amendment, gives protection to dry states from liquor importations and provides for ratification by state conventions.

Ratification by state legislatures and power for Congress to legislate against return of the saloon were stricken out by the Senate.

Those changes brought the resolution, sponsored by Senator Blaine (R. Wis.) into line with the Democratic platform and won the support of Garner and other House leaders who were defeated by six votes last December 5 in an attempt to rush an outright repeal measure through the House.

Party leaders expressed themselves as confident today that if the Democratic caucus succeeds in whipping the majority into line (Continued on Page 2)

Man Sues Himself For $10,000 Damages

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 17 — (AP)—Attorneys for the plaintiff and the defendant argued strenuously in Civil Superior court—both represent the same man.

James F. Lawlor, acting as executor of the estate of his mother who was killed in an automobile accident, is suing himself as driver of the car. He asks $10,000 for the estate against himself.

A motion entered by Lawlor's defense attorney for non-suit was overruled after an objection by counsel for Lawlor, plaintiff.

SHOOTING WILL DELAY PAY FOR MANY TEACHERS

Chicago Mayor Unable To Sign Warrants For Salaries

Chicago, Feb. 7 — (AP)—Chicago school teachers—accustomed to delays in receiving salary checks—today faced another deferred pay day as result of the shooting of Mayor Cermak in Miami, Fla., it was revealed in official circles.

A month's salary to be paid in tax anticipation warrants and amounting to $4,723,650 was voted by the Board of Education Wednesday a few hours before the Mayor was wounded by the assassin's bullet meant for President-elect Roosevelt.

However, city hall officials said today a proxy must be designated by the Mayor to sign more than 92,000 warrants in $50 denominations before they are paid to the teachers. Word from Miami was to the effect that the Mayor's physicians would not allow him to examine any public documents for at least several days.

Meanwhile, more than a thousand teachers paid tribute to Mayor Cermak at a mass meeting yesterday. They adopted a resolution praising him for his efforts to obtain government funds to pay them.

Teachers At U. I. Face Salary Cuts

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 17 — (AP)—Ten per cent salary reductions for the University of Illinois staff and employees on salaries above $1,000 per year will become effective on March 1.

The Board of Trustees said it had been "very reluctant to reduce university salaries in view of the fact that not until 1931 did the purchasing power of the average university salary catch up with either the purchasing power it had in 1913 or with the wages of skilled laborers in outside pursuits."

The board had first decided to reduce salaries next July 1, but in view of the condition of the state Treasury decided to cooperate by advancing the salary cut to March 1.

WEALTHY SUGAR BROKER INDICTED BY FEDERAL JURY

Scott Durand An Alleged Participant In Alcohol Conspiracy

Chicago, Feb. 17 — (AP)—Scott Sloan Durand, Chicago sugar broker was under government indictment today as a leader in an alleged $9,500,000 alcohol conspiracy.

Seventy-five other persons, accused of being members of the alleged ring, among them sugar dealers, distillery manufacturers and still tenders, were also named in the indictments. The combine, the government charges in the indictments, reaped a profit of more than $2,000,000 a year.

Durand, head of a Chicago sugar brokerage concern bearing his name, is the husband of Mrs. Grace Barrett Durand, an active worker for the Women's Christian Temperance Union, clubwoman and author of a book on prohibition titled "Consider."

Formed In 1929 Assistant United States Prosecutor Walter E. Wiles said the alleged syndicate started operation in July, 1929, and continued to function until last summer. During that time, he charged, evidence indicated that the syndicate purchased 69,000,000 pounds of sugar and 2,000,000 pounds of yeast. Half the sugar was sold to the syndicate by Durand, government agents discovered, Professor Wiles said.

Joseph Peskin, once the owner of a wholesale grocery company and reputed 'corn sugar king,' also was among the indicted. Prosecutor Wiles said Peskin's profit on sugar sales was $50,000 monthly. Three alleged members of the Capone gang, named as James Alexander, Al Moore and Frank Bonjourn, also were listed on the indictments.

Others Indicted Named as leaders along with Durand in the indictments were six Chicago business men—Harry and Fred Roth, owners of the Calumet Yeast Co., Herman Lebeson, Chicago broker for the Great Starch & Refining Co., of Columbus, Ind., and Granite City, Ill., Morris M. William J., and R. B. Sink, incorporators and stockholders of the Sugar Supply Corporation, a brokerage concern.

Bond for Durand and the other major defendants was set at $5,000 each. Prosecutor Wiles said he would prosecute under the Jones prohibition law, providing five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fines in certain types of prohibition violations.

Family Will Him His family and friends are staying close to his sick bed. His youngest daughter, Mrs. Helen Cermak Kenley, and two of his sons-in-law, Dr. Frank J. Jirka, Director of the Illinois State Health Department, and Richey V. Graham, Illinois state Senator—flew here yesterday.

Governor Henry Horner of Illinois was en route today from Springfield.

The bullet that Giuseppe Zangara fired into the Mayor's body in an attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt was still in his body today.

An x-ray report said: "Fragments of the chest and abdomen show presence of a 32 caliber bullet lying exactly in the midline of the upper anterior margin of the body of the 11th dorsal vertebra. The wound of entry was on the right side posteriorly under the tip of the scapula at about the level of the 9th rib. There is no evidence that it fractured the ribs at these points.

Spinal Cord Escaped "It must have passed downward and toward the midline and has apparently lodged itself in the body of this vertebra. It has produced very little fracture of the body structure of this vertebra, in fact, no displaced fragments of bone are noted in this area.

"In estimating the course of this bullet, it is evident that the spinal cord would escape injury. It lies too high to have affected the right kidney, but it is possible that in its course it passed through the posterior margin of the liver. The amount of injury produced will have to be observed from the clinical findings."

Messages of sympathy and good wishes poured in for the Mayor and his family. Mayor Cermak was cheerful and was cheered by the well wishes of President-elect Roosevelt, fresh in memory. Mr. Roosevelt sent the Mayor this message before departing for New York yesterday:

"For my old friend, Tony, with my affectionate good wishes. Get well fast and come to see me in Washington."

His "Baby" Arrives Mrs. Kenley—the Mayor's "baby"—arrived about 6 P. M. yesterday. She was driving from Chicago to Miami Beach when she heard of her father's injury in dramatic fashion. At Chattanooga, she stepped to a hotel desk to wire her father and heard a clerk say the Mayor of Chicago had been shot.

Halsey, Stuart Co. Made Great Profits

Washington, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Evidence that Halsey, Stuart & Company profited almost $12,000,000 from transfers of stock from one Insull company to another was put before a Senate committee today in its stock inquiry. Harold L. Stuart, president of the investment company, relating the numerous transactions in which his company figured, said the profits rolled up so high in one deal that his company considered them too large and returned a third of $2,000,000 to the Insull company involved.

Questions by Banking committee members and its counsel brought out that officials of Halsey, Stuart also were officers in the Insull company whose securities they were handling.

CHICAGO'S MAYOR SHOULD RECOVER SURGEONS STATE

She caught the next train to Atlanta and flew here. Dr. Jirka and State Senator Graham, sons-in-law of Mayor Cermak, arrived here early today by train. Dr. Meyer and William Haberkorn, Sergeant-at-Arms of the Illinois Senate, accompanied them.

Dr. Jirka and Dr. Meyer said Mayor Cermak joked with them in his room and quoted him as saying: "The only time you doctors take a vacation is when we get sick. I had to get shot in order for you to come down here."

Woman Holding Own It was Dr. Synder who made the report on Mrs. Gill who during the night had a sinking spell. She rallied after stimulants were administered. He said she rested well and seemed holding her own. "Certainly," he said, "she is not any worse and she does not appear to be much better."

Physicians plan to issue three bulletins daily on Mayor Cermak's condition hereafter. A policeman guards his room and one stands outside the hospital. Mayor Cermak has received literally hundreds of telegrams of sympathy. Among the senders were Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, the Mayor of Dublin, the Mayor of Prague, James A. Farley and Governor Homer of Illinois, who is en route to his bedside.

Others Progress Well The other three victims were reported as progressing nicely. Their wounds were much less serious than those of Mayor Cermak and Mrs. Gill. The condition of all three, Miss Margaret Krus of Newark, N. J., William Smeeth of New York and Russell Caldwell of Coconut Grove, Fla., was reported as good.

Physicians said it would be three to five days before they would be able to pronounce Mrs. Gill out of danger.

Her condition is still critical, the latest bulletin said, "though showing some improvement. We do not contemplate further blood transfusions unless indicated later on. Pulse 116, temperature 100, respiration 18."

The parents of Mrs. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jenkins of Dallas, Tex., left there last night for Miami. Friends and relatives kept up constant inquiries about her condition.

Mrs. Wright has been operating the inn since the death of her husband several months ago. The new owner, it is understood, will continue the business.

Battle Is Raging In Amazon Jungles Para, Brazil, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Two more battles between Colombian and Peruvian naval and military forces struggling for possession of the border city of Leticia have been reported in brief dispatches from the upper Amazon jungle regions.

The clashes were said to have occurred at points 200 miles apart on the Putumayo river. Peruvians were reported to have made a counter attack at Tarapaca, where the first real engagement in the border warfare occurred Tuesday, and another battle was reported at Encanto, a Colombian base.

Air, river and land forces were said to have taken part in the clash at Encanto, located in about the middle of the disputed border strip and opposite the Peruvian river town of Puerto Arturo. The outcome was not stated.

The result of the reported counter attack at Tarapaca, which is on the Brazilian border and about 80 miles north of Leticia, was not known either.

Batavia Celebrated Centenary Last Eve Batavia, Ill., Feb. 17.—(AP)—This thriving community today looked back upon its own "Century of Progress" as exemplified by its development from a log cabin in the wilderness in 1833 to the modernity of an American city of 1933.

The centenary was celebrated last night with a pageant in the high school auditorium, John Gwatafson and Mrs. Ralph Swan portrayed the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Payne, who built the first log cabin on the east bank of the Fox river on the site of what is now Batavia, 35 miles west of Chicago. Mrs. Naomi Abernathy, 67, life-long resident of the city, took the part of Payne's mother.

and keeping the solid block intact in Monday's voting the Blaine repeal would be passed and sent to the states.

Signature Not Needed The signature of President Hoover is not necessary, but three-fourths of the state must ratify to make it effective.

With repeal out of the way, the Senate today turned to unemployment relief, with the $500,000,000 general relief program advanced by Senators LaFollette (R. Wis.), Cutting (R. N. M.), and Costigan (D. Colo.), up for debate.

This bill provides for direct grants to the states to care for their needy and sets up a $15,000,000 fund to help the homeless.

After the Senate action on repeal, Garner said:

As perfected by the Senate and the Robinson amendment for the convention method of ratification, the resolution is satisfactory and in conformity with the Democratic platform.

Passage Predicted Repeal was fixed by the Democrats as a major part of their legislative program for the short session. Many of them believed that with the provision for dry state protection a number of dry votes in the House would be turned into wet votes.

Snell said: "There is no doubt the Senate repeal resolution will pass."

Anti-prohibitionists in the House will meet tomorrow morning to decide their attitude.

In the Senate voting 33 Democrats, 29 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite voted for the Repeal. Nine Democrats and 14 Republicans were recommended in opposition.

Soon afterwards the Senate passed the appropriation bill carrying the reduced prohibition enforcement funds, limited this year to $8,440,000, and prohibition the use of money for wire tapping or purchase of evidence. The measure was sent to the House for approval of amendments.

Text of Resolution The text of the Blaine resolution which came to the House today after adoption by the Senate follows:

Section 1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

Section 2. The transportation or importation into any state, territory or possession of the United States for delivery or use of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several states, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of submission hereof to the states of Congress.

GOOD THOUGHTS

ALWAYS the endeavor to think of good as the divine reality, and to reflect it in motive and deed, serves as a cup of cold water, to be shared with others in the love of good. How heartening it is to know that one may learn to choose accurately and effectually, what shall be the influence of his living, of his receiving and of his giving, sure that the good he knows and does is mingling with endless universal good.—The Christian Science Monitor

New Antiseptic Cuts Gargling Costs In Half!

Five Million Trial Bottles of Vicks Antiseptic Furnish Proof of Its Quality—and Its Amazing Economy!

GUARANTEED BY DRUGGISTS

The makers of Vicks VapoRub have produced an antiseptic which does everything that a gargle or mouth-wash can and should do—at half the usual price of other quality antiseptics. The name of this new product is Vicks Vortone Antiseptic.

Of course, the only real proof of its quality and amazing economy is actual use. To furnish this proof, Vicks Chemists supplied to druggists—at less than cost—5 million special trial bottles—a 25c value for 10c. These trial bottles have gone so quickly that this offer is now made only if your druggist's supply of the trial size is exhausted, get one of the 35c bottles. Use it a week. Then, if you are not delighted with its quality, and amazing economy, your money will be refunded.

Mild Enough, Strong Enough

No extra-again claims are made for Vicks Vortone. It is simply the best oral antiseptic Vicks Chemists could produce—and they were aided by the chemists, bacteriologists and pharmacologists of their 10 allied organizations here and in Europe.

They created a balanced antiseptic—mild enough to be used day in and day out without risk to delicate membranes yet strong enough to do everything that an oral antiseptic can and should do.

For All Customary Uses

You can use Vicks Antiseptic, in your customary way, for had breath (halitosis); as a gargle; as a mouth-wash; as an antiseptic lotion, and for all the other customary uses.

And Vicks Antiseptic has this additional unique advantage—born in a depression year it is priced accordingly—saving you half.

Women Voters in Favor Direct Primary, Short Ballot

The General Assembly at Springfield seems actively engaged in making many changes in the election laws. During the first four weeks of this session over thirty bills dealing with elections have been put in. The Illinois League of Women Voters views this with some concern, although they recognize the need for certain changes and are strongly supporting their own program. In general, their program recommends support for Permanent Registration, a shorter ballot (of the "office" type) and the Direct Primary. Indeed the Direct Primary principle can almost be called the adopted child of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, Chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters Committee on Nominations and Elections, has replied to some of the criticisms made against the Direct Primary. A summary of her answers is as follows:

As regards the charge of undue expense, the cost to the taxpayers is about the same with a Direct Primary as it would be to nominate delegates to a convention, since the same election machinery would be necessary in both cases.

It is possible to regulate a candidate's expenditures under the primary because a reasonable limit of expenditures for different offices could be legally prescribed.

If the primary were controlled by the political machine, the machine would be lined up in support of it. As a matter of fact, one of the chief reasons for the primary is that it makes possible control by the rank and file of the party rather than by the machine.

The League of Women Voters, ever since its first convention, has been pledged to support the direct primary, and stands today, as it did then, for such improvements as will make it more responsive to and representative of the wishes and needs of the citizens.

The program is given under the direction of Mrs. Stiles who was for eight years soloist in the Second Congregational church in

CINE-MODES Hollywood Stars Become White Collared Workers

Kay Strozzi

By NEA Service

Hollywood—Everybody these days is boldly venturing into the "white collared class." But such individuality about the white collars they are wearing!

Kay Strozzi wears an adapted Lord Byron collar that is particularly becoming to her oval face. With a louncing suit that has a very dark, glowing green bell-hop jacket, she wears a gleaming white satin blouse with this cut to its collar. With it she knots a four-in-hand tie.

Joan Crawford gets the most unusual and individual white collar touches of any star. Lunching at the M-G-M commissary with Gary Cooper and Howard Hawks, Joan wore a simple sports dress, topped by a white box sports coat and an absolutely huge white taffeta scarf tie about her neck.

Joan Bennett is more apt to button her white collars in the back, in ministerial manner which gives her a demure look. On a black one-piece daytime dress she has double round collar and deep double cups of crisp white crinkled organdie.

Fathers Should Respect the Protective Instinct in Mothers

Those who saw Ann Harding and Richard Dix in "The Conquerors" were permitted to witness the tragedies of the Standish family of two generations ago in the rise and growth of a western town.

This was one thing that impressed itself on my mind. Mrs. Standish was the ever-watchful, alert, brooding mother, sensitive to danger and braving trouble cheerfully and nobly when it came.

Twice she tried to prevent tragedy. Once when her little son went off with the old drunken doctor in a surrey to meet "The first train west" on that gala day when the whole town of Fort Allen turned out en masse to celebrate.

She tried to stop him but Mr. Standish, her rather stolid, good-natured banker husband laughed her out of it "They'll be all right. Don't you worry. Let the child go," he urged.

They went, the horses frightened at the black monster approaching, ran off, tore across the track and both riders were killed.

Years later her premonition of trouble concerning her future son-in-law again proved to be correct. Again her husband persuaded her evening, at 7:30, in G. A. R. hall.

There will be a picnic supper at 6 o'clock, to which all comrades and honorary members are invited.

After the meeting a campfire and program will be given under the direction of the patriotic instructor, Viola E. Strub, in honor of the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington; also for the twenty-seventh anniversary of Dixon Circle.

Mrs. Garner Describes Her Gown

By BESS FURMAN

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 17.—(AP)—"Just as plain and simple as I am" was the description Mrs. John N. Garner gave today of the evening gown she will wear both to the White House next Tuesday night and to the inaugural ball March fourth.

The dress will have a double historical significance in that it will grace her final important appearance in her role of Speaker's wife, at President Hoover's dinner to the Speaker; and also her first social whirl in her new role of wife of the Vice President.

Mrs. Garner, in the third of her multiple character parts in the drama of public affairs, secretary to her husband, was packing for the move from the House to the Senate side of the Capitol as she described her dress.

"It's black, satin I think, anyhow, we'll call it satin," she said, sinking into a chair for a little breathing spell. "It has a soft, lacy light collar that starts about here (she indicated a point above the shoulder blades) and that comes forward on both sides to form a cowl effect at the neck, going on down the front to a little V below the waist line."

"The trimming isn't dead white, but light, and it is embroidered with sequins that give it a yellowish-gold cast."

Mrs. Garner said she hadn't yet selected the gown she would wear on inauguration day for the ceremonies at the Capitol, but that it would be some variation of her favorite "black with touches of white."

Regular Meeting of H.S. P.T.A. Wednesday of Interest

The regular February meeting of the High School P. T. A. held on Wednesday, February 15th, was well attended. The program on Worthy Home Membership as one of the main objectives of education was developed by Mrs. Florence White as speaker for the teachers and Mrs. Freya Lazier for the parents. Excellent talks were also given by two student speakers, Genevieve Reitzell and James Ramsey. The ideals of the home and the mutual advantage of home and school were ably presented.

The Association also commemorated Founders Day in that Mrs. O. F. Geoke gave a concise account of the program and achievements of the Parent Teachers Association since its beginning, thirty-six years ago.

The members met afterwards in the domestic science room where delicious refreshments were served by high school girls under the direction of Miss Cleta White.

Class Held Birthday Surprise for Miss Anna Emmert

The Loyal Workers Class of the Nachusa Lutheran Sunday school carried out a very successful birthday surprise on their teacher, Miss Anna Emmert, on Wednesday. The class arrived bringing well-filled baskets and a splendid dinner was enjoyed by all. The birthday cake which was a real work of art was baked and decorated by Mrs. Roy Crawford. After dinner the president of the class, Mrs. O. R. Elcholtz, with a few well chosen words presented Miss Emmert with a beautiful basket and blooming plant as a token of appreciation for her most faithful work as teacher. The afternoon was in charge of the entertainment, committee and to their credit it must be said there wasn't a dull moment for anyone.

It is indeed the wish of all who know Miss Anna Emmert that she may be spared in health and strength for many years, for her good deeds and kindly words are many.

Nurses Alumni Benefit Last Evening Big Success

The Dixon Nurses Alumni Association sponsored a benefit card party at the Elks Club last evening which proved a success in every way. The attendance was large, and that meant quite a help toward the Welfare relief for which the party was held; and everyone had a happy evening, and that made for good fellowship for all present.

Bridge and five hundred were the games enjoyed. Floyd Smith was awarded the favor for high score for the men at bridge, with Dr. H. A. Lazier being awarded the second favor; and Waiter Mueller received the consolation favor, Miss Buchanan was awarded the favor for high score at bridge for the ladies, with Mrs. Harry Quick and Mrs. Anna O'Malley being presented with the second and consolation favors, respectively. At five hundred Mr. Cotti carried off high honors for the men; with Wiley Shippert winning the second favor and Clark Young being presented the consolation favor. The ladies high prize at five hundred was won by Mrs. Harry Manges and Mrs. Wiley Shippert won the second favor, and Mrs. Clark Young the consolation.

After the card games the committee in charge served delicious cake and coffee, completing the enjoyable evening.

New Transfer Patterns For Applique Work

Handwork is again becoming the vogue of the hour. Women everywhere are looking for interesting and novel patterns for patchwork and applique quilts, pillows and spreads.

The Wonder Package, of new and easily transferred designs fills every need for patterns for patchwork, stenciling, painting, or decorating furniture, embroidery, or amusing the children.

No hot iron necessary; anyone can use the designs with ease. Just rub the bowl of a tablespoon over the moistened surface of any pattern you select, and a perfect transfer is made. Children love to use them, and can then paint or color them with crayons later. Each design can be used ten or twelve times, and as there are over 800 patterns this is a life-time supply.

The above illustration shows just one-half of one of the large sheets. The package contains 12 sheets, and each measures 24 by 36 inches.

The patterns shown above are suitable for applique work and the clever needlewoman can easily make many beautiful things for the home or for gifts.

Now is the time to make the lovely cool quilts and bed spreads to beautify the home during the hot summer months. There is a new, very fine seersucker material on the market, which is wide enough for bed spreads, and comes in beautiful pastel shades, or use the always serviceable unbleached muslin, which you may tint to suit your taste.

These patterns may be transferred and applied on with button-hole stitch, using plain colored cotton material, or silk for your applique in shades which contrast or harmonize with your spread. For instance, a beautiful peach colored bed spread may have the pattern applied on in a lovely shade of light green. If you do not want to buttonhole the pattern on, it can be firmly basted and pressed, then stitched neatly on the edge by machine. Small pillows made this way in pretty colors dress up any bedroom. Dark colored sateen with contrasting shades stitched on, make delightful pillow tops to liven up your living room.

The price for the Wonder Package of 800 designs is low, only $1.00 using the coupon below. If you wish to have it mailed, or 88c if you would like to call for it at the office of The Dixon Evening Telegraph.

BANDIT OR PATRIOT?

General Augusto Sandino visits the presidential palace in Managua, capital of Nicaragua, chats amiably with President Sacasa, and pledges his guerilla army to keep the peace.

"Peace is now a fact," remarks the general "Nicaragua entered a new era when the last United States marines departed from our soil. I ask for nothing personally."

From all of this it is rather evident that the American officers and diplomats who denounced Sandino as "nothing but a bandit" for so many years didn't know exactly what they were talking about. A true bandit would not lay down his arms and disband his army as soon as the marines left; he would stay on the job, take advantage of their departure, and start raising Cain in real earnest. Sandino seems to be rather more of the patriot and less of the outlaw than most of us have been willing to admit.

BEACHING OUR ADMIRALS.

The retirement from naval service of Rear Admirals Jehu V. Chase and Frank H. Schofield on account of age brings to mind the seemingly harsh features of the navy's very retirement rules.

Naval regulations require an officer to leave the service at the end of the month in which he becomes 64. Admiral Chase and Admiral Schofield both celebrated their sixty-fourth birthdays in January; both, as a result, are now in civilian clothes.

Everything considered, some such rule as this is probably necessary. At the very least it keeps the navy from being overloaded at the top with a bunch of superannuated old dugouts. And yet 64 is an early retirement age. A naval officer of that age can be just at the height of his powers. It seems a bit unjust to put him ashore, sometimes.

A "RED HUNT" FIZZLES.

The Arkansas House of Representatives is to be congratulated for its refusal to authorize an investigation of charges that the faculty of the University of Arkansas is stacked with foreigners who are busy disseminating atheism, radicalism and what not among their students.

Representative Butler, opposing the resolution, declared that it would be "an insult to the intelligence of the people of this state," and there seems little reason to quarrel with his assertion.

Charges of this kind get leveled against almost every state university, sooner or later. It is refreshing to see that the Arkansas legislators were too well balanced to take them seriously.

A PARDONABLE DELAY.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas remarks that he does not see how there can be any final action in the present session of the Senate on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty "if there is serious opposition—and I understand that there is."

If the Arkansas senator is correct, the whole problem will go over to the new Senate; and, all things considered, that perhaps will be just as well.

The St. Lawrence waterway is a profoundly important matter, but it is not one about which there needs to be any life-or-death rush. It deserves full debate and extended consideration; and if it has to be postponed to the next session in order to get these little harm will be done. The one thing that is not wanted is a hasty decision preceded by insufficient discussion.

We (Republicans) can always depend upon a landslide in the upper income brackets; an overwhelming victory in the Social Register; a safe majority in "Who's Who"; a fair chance in the telephone book; but we begin to be devastated when we get into the city directory; and that is bad!—William Allen White, editor, Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

We have reached a point where the machine must be utilized for its greatest social purpose—the production of leisure—in order to make it an effective arm of industrial progress.—Will H. Hays, president, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

There's no bigger sucker job in the world than being angel to a political party.—Ogden L. Mills, retiring secretary of the treasury.

We are where we are because we tried to get along without God.—Dr. Robert E. Speer, senior secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

I think that the reason so many are willing to lay down their lives for their country is that their country has never made their lives sufficiently attractive.—Arthur Branders, economist.

I was rather afraid of shaking hands with him (Jack Dempsey). I was afraid he might crush my fingers; but he didn't—that is, not exactly.—Sergei Rachmaninoff, noted Russian pianist, upon meeting the former heavyweight boxing champion.

"Well, we've repaired the ant hill that we landed on and near knocked flat," said Scouty to the ant. "I hope you think the job's well done."

"Now you will never have to roam, to try and find another home. We're glad that we have fixed it up. The work was lots of fun."

The ant replied, "Oh, thanks, a heap. It looks, now, as if it will keep for years and years. Just watch it, and you'll get a big surprise."

The ant then chirped a funny tune. The Tines watched and pretty soon, a string of ants came crawling out, before their very eyes.

The ant said, "They all live with me and now they're happy as I can be. No wonder! They have reached the air, where they can walk around."

"Course, when the hill was messed about, sand filled the hole where they got out. You saved them all from having to stay underneath the ground."

The ant parade then moved away. "What are they going to do today?" asked Coppy. "Why, they're going to work," the friendly ant replied.

"They are real busy little ants. Stay here and you will have a chance to see them haul some crumbs of food and take them right inside."

Said Windy, "Gee, they're doing fine. Just see how they keep right in line." The Tines watched them for a while. Then Scouty dashed away.

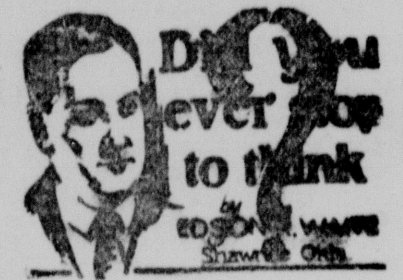

He'd heard a noise, so looked around and soon a fiddler ant was found. Brave Scouty rushed up to it and said, "Let me hear you play."

The ant sat up against a tree. It said, "I'm glad you've come to me. I've found a magic fiddle and I want to try it out."

"Sit down and I will play for you. We'll see if all the notes are true. Then, when I've played, I'll tell you what the fiddle's all about."

Many business concerns are waiting for business to pick up. Others are realizing the opportunities of today and are securing additional business by newspaper advertising.

Those who repose faith in the League of Nations—and they are in the great minority—are adamant in their refusal to accept a truth that has been apparent to the materialists ever since the inception of the League; namely, the League may give rulings and decisions on matters of international import from now until Gabriel sounds the last trumpet, but without force to back its findings, it is impotent.

The hand-to-mouth method of buying by the manufacturer, retailer and consumer in vogue at the present time is, in a way, greatly due to the unknown fear put into the hearts of everyone by the word "Economy"—a word that covers so well the sins of omission and commission in this land of ours by a lot of our citizens.

Many advocate a restorative policy to bring back prices to the 1928 level by a concerted money action by the creation of as much new money as gold stocks will bear without endangering the gold parity of the respective currencies, and thereafter keep stable. These thoughts are well worth careful consideration.

If you get better acquainted with your neighbors, you will find with delight, no doubt, what a fine lot of folks they are.

Did you ever stop to think that after all is said and done, we may not have such a bad Congress after all? Perhaps their greatest fault is in listening to outside interference. The fellows who are criticizing them the most are those who insist on having things run their way and cussing them out if they don't.

Business comes to those concerns who earnestly and diligently go after it by newspaper advertising.

ZANGARA KNOWN AS RADICAL IN HIS FORMER CITY

Was Lunch Hour Talker Against All Heads Of Governments

Hackensack, N. J., Feb. 17—(AP)—Detective Sergeant Edward Metzger quoted Hugh McQuillan of the U. S. Secret Service as saying he was satisfied that Joe Zangara who lived here and in Paterson for some time was the man who last Wednesday night attempted to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt.

McQuillan, Metzger said, came to Hackensack early this morning and questioned the family of Frank Yanni at the Green street address where Zangara at one time lived. Later, the Sergeant said, McQuillan, who was to return to Hackensack today, stated he was sure Zangara, who also was known as Giuseppe Zangara and Joe Zingara, was the assassin.

Zangara obtained his citizenship two years ago and has never been in trouble with the police, according to a preliminary report made by Police Chief Frederick Reppeger to John J. Toohey, Secretary to Governor Moore.

Toohey, acting on the Governor's orders, called upon Chief Reppeger of Hackensack and Chief John A. Murphy of Paterson to make a thorough investigation into the incidents and associates of Zangara.

In U. S. Eleven Years According to Reppeger's first report, Zangara was a Calabrese who came here from Italy 11 years ago and settled in Paterson.

Two years ago, he took out his citizenship papers in Paterson, although he had moved to Hackensack in the meantime. He voted in Hackensack in 1931.

Zangara was a bricklayer and was a member of Bricklayers local No. 2 in Paterson and transferred to local No. 23 in Hackensack when he moved there. In 1930, the report states, he owned an automobile.

For a period in 1931, no information concerning him is available, it being stated that he was supposed to have gone to South America by some of his acquaintances. He appears to have had no intimate friends.

Inflammatory Character Rosario Candrial, local contractor, described Zangara as an "inflammatory character."

Refreshing his memory about the bricklayer, he seemed positive that he was a radical, and declared, "he was an anarchist, Socialist or Communist."

Candrial said he had employed Zangara on several jobs around Bergen county and said he had a reputation as a "lunch hour" talker.

Whenever a President was elected or took office, or a king ascended a throne, Candrial said, the bricklayer, with an audience of his fellow workers, would await the lunch hour on the job, then with wild gestures, he would denounce governments and the men in power, preach radical doctrines, and advocate the killing of government leaders.

Income Taxes Explained By Commissioner

GROSS AND NET INCOME

Two of the terms used in the income tax law, namely, "gross income" and "net income," should be noted particularly, inasmuch as they are vitally important to the whole subject of the income tax.

Gross income includes in general all income from any source whatever, unless exempt from tax by law. Net income upon which the tax is assessed is gross income less the deductions allowed by law.

Such deductions include business and professional expenses, such as salaries, pensions and bonuses to employees, taxes, losses, interest paid, bad debts, depreciations, depletion, contributions, etc. Failure to understand deductions against gross income can result in numerous errors on the part of taxpayers.

Having arrived at the net income, the next step is to deduct the personal exemption—$1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married persons living together and heads of families, and the $400 credit for each dependent, etc. The normal tax is computed on the remainder at the rate of 4 per cent on the first $4,000 and 8 per cent on the balance.

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. To reflect income correctly, inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

A lawyer, doctor, architect, physician, dentist, clergyman, author, or other professional man must include in gross income all fees, salaries and compensation of any kind for professional services.

ROOSEVELT'S STORY OF WHAT HAPPENED TOLD

He Gave His Version Of Shooting To News- paper Men

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Relaxing on the train carrying him to New York, President-elect Roosevelt yesterday told the story of the attempted assassination of himself. He was persuaded by newspapermen to permit it to be published. Here it is:

"After I had finished speaking someone from the talking picture people climbed on the back of the car and said 'you must repeat that speech for us.' I said I would not. He said 'we have come 1000 miles for this' I said 'I am very sorry but I can't do it.'"

"Having said that, I slid off the back of the car into my seat."

Just then Mayor Cermak came forward and I talked with him about a minute about Chicago in general. Then he moved off behind the car. Bob Clark (one of the Secret Service men) was standing right by him. As he moved away, a man came forward with a long telegram and started telling me what it contained. While he was talking I leaned forward. Just then I heard what I thought was a firecracker, then several more. The man talking with me pulled back and the chauffeur started the car.

Had Car Stopped

"I looked around and saw Mayor Cermak doubled up with Mrs. Gill collapsing. I told the chauffeur to stop. He did, about 15 feet from where we started. The Secret Service men shouted to him 'get out of the crowd.' The chauffeur started again and I stopped him again, this time at the corner of the bandstand."

"Looking back I saw Cermak being carried along and we put him in our car. He was alive but I was afraid he wouldn't last. I got my hand on his pulse and found none. He was on the seat with me and I had my left arm around him. He slumped forward. A detective from Miami, standing on the running board on that side of the car was leaning over him. He said after we had gone a couple of blocks he was afraid Cermak would not last."

"I, too, was fearful. Just then Cermak straightened up and got his pulse. That was surprising. For three blocks I actually believe his heart had stopped."

"I held him all the way to the hospital, and his pulse constantly improved. It seemed like 25 miles to the hospital. I talked to him all the way. I remember I said, 'Tony don't move—keep quiet—it won't hurt if you keep quiet and remain perfectly still.'"

Daily Health Talk

"Malnutrition is an over-worked word these days, and quite logically so. With thousands unemployed not only adults but innumerable little children have been deprived of the nourishing food which is their due. Indeed, this problem, which has always been a major one in child-care, has never before in the history of the United States assumed the tremendous proportions that it has today. But strange as it may seem to many, malnutrition is by no means limited to the poor and children of the poor. It is much more general than that. And malnutrition means poor teeth."

A recent study among the over-privileged children in a large city indicated beyond question that many of them were quite as under-nourished as their less unfortunate contemporaries. And while in the latter class the fault lay in the lack of funds to obtain the proper food, in the former it was the overuse of delicacies made possible by a fat pocketbook.

"It was definitely discovered that pies, cakes, candies and other palatable delights were being favored by some of the children of the rich, resulting in a minimum intake of the more homely and equally essential items in the normal diet. Malnutrition and impaired teeth naturally followed."

"During the early growing years, and indeed during the later ones also, nature demands obedience to certain fundamental laws. And denied this, she backfires and exacts her price."

"It must be understood that the developing body needs the food elements that build tissues as well as those that produce heat and energy. Therefore a mixed diet in the right proportions is an essential requirement. Milk, eggs, vegetables, fruit, meat, as well as sugar and salt will furnish the proper elements to the blood stream. On the other hand, playing food favorites that appeal to a child's sense of delight upsets the apple cart, so to speak."

"It follows that whether one has money to pay for dental care or is dependent upon charity for such service, the foundation of good teeth in the first instance depends upon the kind of teeth one builds. And food of the proper type and the proper proportions is the only real builder."

"Rich and poor alike should therefore make every effort to see that the young bodies are not denied the constituents so essential both to constitutions and mouth health. Remember, in the very nature of things, malnutrition and good teeth are sworn enemies."

HEMORRHAGE CONTROL

The science of physiology, which is concerned with the study of the workings of the living body, is an inexhaustible fount of marvels.

Recent studies on hemorrhage and hemorrhage control bring this out most forcefully. Under certain abnormal conditions points of hemorrhage may develop in different parts of the body, which at times the physician is not able to control directly.

Under such circumstances the body frequently comes to its own aid by causing clot formations. These clots block up the leak.

The ancients paradoxically treated such cases of hemorrhage with bloodletting. The later-day practitioners looked upon this treatment as a blind adherence to a philosophic conception, namely, that "like cures like."

More than 150 years ago, however, it was demonstrated experimentally that after a severe, sudden hemorrhage, blood clots much more rapidly than usual.

The great German physiologist Cohnheim in a series of animal experiments observed that the last blood of an animal bleeding to death coagulated or clotted almost instantaneously.

In recent years this physiologic defense mechanism has been employed in a rather ingenious way.

Where the physician is confronted with an otherwise uncontrollable hemorrhage he does not, as the ancients did, resort to further bloodletting, but he physiologically withdraws some blood from the general circulation.

To accomplish this tourniquets or bands are placed around the near end of each extremity. These tourniquets are wound tightly enough to prevent the return of blood through the veins. They are not tight enough, however, to interfere with blood circulation in the arteries.

In this way the blood is trapped and removed from the circulation only for as long as is necessary. When the leak has been sealed by the accelerated formation of blood clots the tourniquets are loosened. Tomorrow—Blood Transfusions to invest their hoarded money. There is no incentive to invest money in a declining market. As I stated at the head of this paragraph, on a rising market a hoarded dollar is less valuable; on a declining market it gets more valuable.

Property owners who talk against inflation are talking against themselves. Their property if sold now would not bring half its true value. They are complaining about taxes being too high—they have a right to complain. Taxes have become doubly high because the VALUE of the dollar has doubled—but the purchasing power of the dollar has been reduced a half! Our economic problems cannot be solved without giving attention to the purchasing power of money.

ANYTHING that is done to enable people to pay their debts on the same basis on which they were contracted will be very helpful. Most everyone agrees that putting a sufficient quantity of money into circulation will cause prices to rise—which is what the farmers, merchants, real estate owners, in fact, everyone wants.

The proposal to issue two billion in currency is sound. It can be backed by the idle gold in our United States Treasury. No one can call it "flat" money. Someone may ask—"Why not issue ALL the money you want that way?" The answer is: "We do not have sufficient gold to issue an unlimited amount. The 40 per cent gold reserve requirement limits the amount that may lawfully be issued." But we DO have plenty to issue two billion dollars.

Let's face the issue squarely—something MUST be done to put money into circulation among the masses of the people. The above ideas are perhaps in conflict with ideas of others. I shall welcome comments, whether they are favorable, or otherwise—and will do my best to explain my ideas further, if they are attacked.

A BOOK A DAY

LEGEND OF A PRINCESS

By Bruce Catton
A novel which fails to do what it sets out to do can sometimes be more worth reading than one which is brilliantly successful. It all depends on the question, Who wrote it?

There is, for instance, "Pocahontas," by David Garnett.

This novel, telling the story of that romantic Indian princess of the early days of Virginia, seems to me to be a failure. It starts well and it ends well, but it has a long and arid stretch in the middle in which it becomes a dull recital of uninteresting facts.

But because Mr. Garnett commands a delicate and distinguished prose style, and because he has more than the ordinary amount of sympathetic insight, "Pocahontas" makes better reading than many a book which sails right through without a lag.

Pocahontas herself hardly comes to life until the book is more than half finished. But when she does, she becomes very real and understandable. Her compelling desire to visit London, to learn the ways of the whites and step out in her own world, her gradual conversion from the customs of her own race—these things are skillfully and tenderly handled.

And Captain John Smith, too, that mixture of heroism and cowardice, cool competence and arrogant braggadocio—he is presented unforgettablely.

Best of all, though, is Mr. Garnett's subtle contrast of the Indian culture with the white, and his evocation of the spirit that brooded over the shores of the Chesapeake three centuries ago.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

February 17, 1933

Editor of The Telegraph:

I read with a great deal of interest the article appearing in these columns Wednesday, signed by "A Reader." His proposal, simple as it is, would be much too complicated for our legislature to work out—judging from the manner in which they approach most important problems. In his article "Reader" makes several references to "mere paper money." I wonder what he means by that? Surely he cannot be referring to paper currency issued by our government.

It is generally agreed that there is a shortage of money in the United States. Much has been said about more money being in circulation today than in 1929, and therefore there is no need of currency expansion. I disagree with that idea. Although there is more money outside of the banks and the Treasury, than there was in 1929—it is NOT circulating. According to latest figures I doubt if we have more than a billion dollars in actual circulation. About 90 per cent of the business of this country is done on bank checks or credit. In arriving at the amount of money (or credit) that the country needs, the amount of WORK that is being done by the money (or credit) should be taken in consideration. In other words, it is the "turn-over" of money that counts. By "turn-over" I mean velocity of money or credit. To illustrate—the worker gets $5.00, he pays his grocer, the grocer pays the milk man, the milk man pays the coal man, etc., etc. A person could trace that original $5.00 through a score of persons. Now, to get back to the "turn-over" of money, in 1929 all money (that includes bank deposits) turned over twenty-five times. In 1931, they turned over only thirteen times. In that last sentence lies the main factor, or cause of business stagnation. Somewhere along the line someone is "holding out." Someone is "hoarding." Now, how would I suggest inducing people to quit hoarding? There is only ONE way—that way is to make their hoarded dollar less valuable—a hoarded dollar is of no good to anyone (not even the owner.) It is the INVESTED dollar that is valuable to everyone (including the owner.)

On a rising market a hoarded dollar becomes less valuable each day. So, let's raise our markets—HOW?—Here's how—

Since Congress is the one and only agency which can lawfully print money, why not let them issue two billion dollars (which would be a basis for about twenty billion dollars of credit). The additional money would come into competition with the money already in circulation, and would cause an increase in its velocity or "turn-over." Prices would rise and markets would rise and there would be an incentive for people to invest their hoarded money. There is no incentive to invest money in a declining market. As I stated at the head of this paragraph, on a rising market a hoarded dollar is less valuable; on a declining market it gets more valuable.

Property owners who talk against inflation are talking against themselves. Their property if sold now would not bring half its true value. They are complaining about taxes being too high—they have a right to complain. Taxes have become doubly high because the VALUE of the dollar has doubled—but the purchasing power of the dollar has been reduced a half! Our economic problems cannot be solved without giving attention to the purchasing power of money.

ANYTHING that is done to enable people to pay their debts on the same basis on which they were contracted will be very helpful. Most everyone agrees that putting a sufficient quantity of money into circulation will cause prices to rise—which is what the farmers, merchants, real estate owners, in fact, everyone wants.

RECALL ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF T. R. IN '21 CAMPAIGN

Last Nights Would-Be Assassination Second On A Roosevelt

Chicago, Feb. 17—(AP)—For the second time in history an assassin has fired at a Roosevelt—without fatal results.

Wednesday night at Miami, Fla., President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly missed being shot as the bullets meant for him struck five other persons.

In 1912 at Milwaukee, Wis., the manuscript of a speech he was about to make and an eyeglass saved former President Theodore Roosevelt from what would possibly be a fatal wound.

The Milwaukee shooting occurred on Oct. 14 during the presidential campaign of 1912 when the former President was a candidate on the Progressive ticket.

He had just left his hotel to address a political meeting and was standing in his automobile acknowledging cheers of admirers when John Schrank, New York saloon keeper, stepped forward and fired.

Paper Saved T. R.
The bullet struck Roosevelt in the breast but it was deflected when it hit the bulky manuscript and the eyeglass. Although he was wounded, Roosevelt made his speech. After he came to Chicago and was in a hospital for a week, Schrank was committed to the hospital for the insane at Oshkosh, Wis.

Assassins of Presidents have all paid the supreme penalty for their crimes. John Wilkes Booth, the actor, who stepped out on the stage of Ford's theater at Washington on the night of April 14, 1865 to fire a fatal shot at President Lincoln, was shot to death 12 days later at Fredericksburg, Va., by Sgt. Boston Corbett of the United States Army. Four others, including one woman, were convicted of implication in the assassination and were hanged.

President Garfield's killer, Charles J. Guiteau, was hanged June 30, 1882, at Washington. Garfield was shot July 2, 1881 at a Washington railroad station and died the following Sept. 19.

Czolgosz to Chair
President McKinley died in Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1901, eight days after he was wounded at the Pan-American Exposition by an anarchist, Leon Czolgosz. Czolgosz died in the electric chair Oct. 29, 1901 at the Auburn, N. Y. state prison.

History has resounded with the crack of assassins' bullets. One was heard around the world—the killing of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary and his consort in 1914. It was the spark that set off the World War.

The wounding of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago at Miami by one of the bullets intended for the President-elect marked the first attempt at a Chicago mayor's life since the assassination of Carter H. Harrison, Sr. It occurred in 1893, the year of the city's Columbian Exposition. This year Chicago is preparing to present to the

The year 1900 saw the assassination of William Goebel, Democratic claimant to the governorship of Kentucky, and in 1905 former Governor Frank S. Venning of Idaho met a similar fate.

REVEALS HARDING PLOT
Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19—(AP)—Dr. Henry A. Cotton, internationally known alienist, commenting upon the "stomach pains" which President-elect Roosevelt's assassin said made him "want to kill all Presidents" asserted an unnamed man, similarly affected, planned to kill Warren G. Harding.

The plot to kill President Harding, Dr. Cotton, Medical Director of the Trenton State Hospital for 23 years and Director of Research for the last two, said, has never been revealed.

The man, later a patient of his, planned to assassinate President Harding at Pinehurst, N. C., in 1922.

"However, having read an article concerning christianity he told a minister of his mental conflicts," Dr. Cotton said. "The minister in turn informed a member of the House of Representatives who told President Harding and his wife of the danger. Secret Service men shadowed the man and he was arrested near Camden."

"That man suffered from intestinal trouble," Dr. Cotton said. "We have found 80 per cent of our mental cases suffer from intestinal toxemia which poisons the brain."

NELSON NEWS

By Mrs. M. C. Stitzel

NELSON—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frerichs and daughter, Lois started Monday morning by motor for Detroit, Mich., where they will remain for the next two months. Miss Marie Null, is staying in Dixon during Mr. and Mrs. Frerichs absence and attending big school.

The Girl Scouts invited the Boy Scouts to a Valentine party Thursday evening at the school house. All had a jolly time, games were played and a delicious lunch was furnished and served by the girls.

The funeral services for Mrs. George Graves Monday afternoon at her late home here were very largely attended. There were many relatives from Albany and Rock Island, Ill., Rockford, Sterling and Dixon. The service was conducted by Rev. A. D. Shaffer of the Evangelical church at Dixon. Interment was in the Emmert cemetery east of Dixon. The floral offerings were very beautiful. The bereaved husband and son William have the sympathy of their many friends.

Mr. Graves will soon go to make his home with his son and wife at Rockford. Mr. and Mrs. Graves will be missed from the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ortigleson entertained at a roast goose dinner Sunday evening the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fink of Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. C. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Welker and son Claude and Miss Dorothy Stitzel.

Mesdames Edward Ortigleson and H. A. Eastbrook and Miss Josephine Eastbrook attended the Eastern Star luncheon and card club Monday at the temple in Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Stitzel attended a picnic supper Wednesday

When you're HEALTHY
you're HAPPY

HAPPY days are usually healthy days. Why not add to these sunny days!

Poor health and constipation go hand in hand. Get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also twice as rich in iron as an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much better than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CAN THE RAZZBERRIES

Salt Lake City, Utah—Raymond R. Brady, attorney, dislikes that sound commonly known as the razzberries. He went to some length to prove it. Brady was crossing a street when a taxi whizzed around the corner and nearly hit him. When Brady shouted a warning to the driver, that worthy turned and emitted a sound known as the Bronx cheer. This made Brady so angry that he filed reckless driving charges against the driver. The taxi pilot was sentenced to 10 days in jail and a $25 fine.

TOOK A BIG RISK

El Paso, Tex.—Amelio Guerrero took a big risk when he tried to escape from the Federal detention farm at La Tuna, with only 25 days more to serve. Guerrero had some members of a construction crew bury him under two feet of sand with a straw in his mouth for breathing. Discovering Guerrero missing the guards made a hurried search and found Guerrero almost suffocated in the sand.

Kats Walk Tightrope,

Cheating Hungry Cats

Luray, Va.—Wire-walking rats are added to the strange things that are happening these days in the Old Dominion. On the farm of Frank L. Kontz, the rats travel on a wire clothesline stretched between the corn-crib and the smokehouse without even a disdainful glance at hungry cats waiting patiently below. When two meet on the accommodating wire, one rat retreats to the corn-crib to allow the other to pass.

When in need of Record Sheets will find them in stock at the B. P. Shaw Printing Co., Dixon, Ill. Mail orders given attention. 11

ROOSEVELT NOT WORRIED ABOUT ATTACK ON HIM

Will Make No Change In Pre-Inaugural Activities

En Route with President-elect Roosevelt to New York, Feb. 17—(AP)—The shots from an assassin's gun will not curtail the pre-inaugural activities of President-elect Roosevelt.

Whether he realizes the significance of the fact that he was the target of the five bullets of the Miami gunman Wednesday night, the President-elect is not worrying about it. His concern continues to be for the victims shot by the bullets intended for him.

Proceeding northward from his vacation cruise in the southern seas, he met members of his family last night for the first time since the shooting, at a stop at Nahant, Ga., where James, eldest son, and Betsy, the son's wife boarded the train for a ten minute visit.

Gratified at the tremendous number of telegrams pouring into the train from friends, citizens and politicians, the President-elect is turning to the business of the government he is soon to command.

Jesse Jones, member of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Board and probably its next chairman, boarded the train at Jacksonville, Fla. last night and held a lengthy conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

No Stop at Capital
The train was scheduled to pass through Washington just before noon today, but it was the intention of Mr. Roosevelt to proceed directly to New York where he will remain until inauguration two weeks hence.

It is the conviction of the President-elect and his party that the shooting at Miami was a one-man affair. Most certainly, an unusual national demonstration in behalf of government has arisen from the incident.

The same spirit which led Mr. Roosevelt to command that his car remain in the firing zone at Miami until he had picked up the wounded Mayor Cermak of Chicago impels him to go on as usual in his own way, which with him is a very vigorous and active route. It is likely he will be one of the most traveled Presidents in history before his term is over.

Take No Chances
While fearless, he is not reckless. He is willing to accept the heavy bodyguard which has been placed about him. But he took the front seat with the chauffeur as he rode about Miami yesterday en route to the hospital and train. The police and Secret Service men huddled closely about him though. They were taking no chances.

The Roosevelt train is due in New York just before dinner tonight. A guard of 75 policemen and 15 detectives thrown around Union Station at Washington today testified to the added protection that is to be given Franklin D. Roosevelt during his four years in the White House.

Details of railroad detectives, secret Service men and Department of Justice agents were directed to be at the station.

The Secret Service maintained an increased guard at the White House and acted with other agencies to perfect plans for the fullest protection of Mr. Roosevelt on inauguration day.

REPORTED SPLIT IN CABINET OF BRITAIN DENIED

Ministers Reported To Be Agreed On Debt Parley Plans

London, Feb. 17—(AP)—Reports of a serious split in the British cabinet over war debts involving Premier MacDonald and Neville Chamberlain, with a threat of possible ministerial resignation, were emphatically denied in highest Downing Street quarters.

Neville Chamberlain is Chancellor of the Exchequer. Such reports, which it was stated had been sent to the United States by some newspapers in recent days, have disturbed leading cabinet members because of damage which might be done to the forthcoming debt talks in Washington.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States now enroute to that country, will arrive in Washington, it was revealed, empowered to make arrangements which will have the full and divided support of the British national government.

Cabinet Approve Plans

His consultations with the big five of the cabinet proceeded according to plan in London and the whole cabinet without dissent gave the final stamp of approval to the program of arrangements which Sir Ronald will launch in Washington.

(Sir Ronald, who conferred with President-elect Roosevelt concerning the forthcoming debt conference in Washington, made a quick trip to London to consult with the cabinet about arrangements for the meeting. He sailed this week to return to Washington.)

Misleading View

For Washington authorities to get the impression that the Ambassador represented divided British opinion and that anything like a cabinet crisis is involved in the war debts question here, it was stated, would be to give the United States a misleading view of the political situation in Great Britain.

It is admitted that what are termed misleading reports to some American newspapers are based on political opposition to the government's negotiations for the debts talks, but it is emphasized that the

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cozy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent most of her life on the stage she would be glad to leave the theater.

Sheila joins a road show company and in a small midwestern city she meets JERRY WYMAN. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool and he writes indifferently.

Sheila returns to New York and a few months later joins another road company, this time as a featured principal. The show plays in Jerry's home town but Sheila sees him only once. After that she has no word from him. The tour comes to an end. Then Sheila learns that Jerry has married a girl in his home town.

She tries unsuccessfully to get a part in another play. When money is almost gone she is hired as a model at DICK STANLEY's fashion show. There she sees DOROTHY TREVOR, Dick Stanley's cousin. Dorothy invites her to lunch but Sheila tells her the models are not allowed to have social engagements with customers. When Sheila leaves the shop that night she finds Dorothy and Dick waiting for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLI
DOROTHY called gayly, "Look here, Sheila, are you trying to high-hat us? Well, you can't! What was the idea anyhow of sending a message you couldn't go to lunch with us? Jump in and we'll make you home."

"You don't think I enjoy lunching alone with this dangerous female, do you?" Dick asked reprovingly. With a playful glance at his cousin, "Her appetite is unbelievable!"

Sheila looked at them in dismay. What if Henri should see her? What if one of the other models should report that Sheila had been seen with Miss Trevor again? Yet she could hardly tell Dorothy and Dick that she had been forbidden to accept their invitations.

"Come on, Sheila! We'll take a drive and have dinner later," Dorothy said, beaming. "Dick's knocked off work for the day and that's something to celebrate."

"I'm sorry," Sheila stammered. "I can't. Really. I have to hurry home. They're expecting me."

"Well then," said Dick, "we'll take you there. Dorothy's made up her mind you're coming with us and when Dorothy decides anything it's settled. You might as well come. We seem to be holding up traffic here."

"That doesn't bother me the least bit," retorted Dorothy. "You know that, Dick. I simply want to talk to Sheila. Please, Miss Shayne! If you do, I promise to come back tomorrow and buy six frocks from Henri. I'll tell him I did it because of you, too. That should put you in his good graces."

There was no help for it. Sheila would have to get in the car. "I'll have to go home," she said, glancing swiftly about. There was no one in sight. "If you will drive me there it will be awfully kind."

SEATED in the tenebrous of the huge car, she breathed more freely. It was ridiculous to make so much ado about a simple thing like this. Surely it should not be forbidden to drive home with a friend when declining might easily bring Henri loss of trade!

"Now isn't this better than the subway or bus?" asked Dorothy ingeniously. "I've only been in the subway once and then it wasn't

Tonight at 7 o'clock the Dixon Sterling basketball double-header goes into action. The preliminary will bring Dixon into conflict with Sterling's undefeated lightweight outfit. In the main affair, Dixon's heaviest clash with the North Central league leaders, The Junior Boys Band, led by Director C. B. Price, will perform at both games. This pair of games marks the next to last home appearance for Dixon, the final coming March 3 with Rochelle. Sterling licked Dixon earlier in the year, 18-13, and was lucky to add their seventh consecutive Dixon victory. It will be remembered that Dixon lost Strong early in the second half. Despite this great handicap Dixon managed a 12-12 tie to start the final quarter. In this last stanza Bellows and Henry also departed by the foul route and Hendricks dropped in three baskets for the winning points. There fore, in tonight's battles, Dixon has everything to win and nothing to lose. Coach L. E. Sharpe has won but a single game with Sterling since his arrival in Dixon and is about due for another. The season would be 100 per cent successful, if Dixon could beat Sterling tonight and fans will be pulling hard for the locals to come through. The largest crowd of the season is expected to witness the contests.

Gossip About Baseball Stars And Near Stars

New York, Feb. 17—(AP)—Spring and the training camps are just around the corner but for some major league clubs the no-1-out situation remains a serious problem yet to be solved. The magnates, when they adopted a general policy of retrenchment and cut deeply into salaries, were prepared for a somewhat larger quota of indignant protests from star performers than customary but probably not even they expected so heavy a list of dissatisfied players.

Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Red Lucas, Ernie Lombardi, Hack Wilson, Joe Stripp, Vess Ferrell, Willie Kamm, Willis Hudlin, Frankie Frisch and Heine Manush are just a few of the headlines who have balked at terms.

There are striking exceptions, of course. The Pittsburgh Pirates, who surprised the National League by finishing second last season with inexperienced men at both shortstop and second base, have signed every player on the 1933 roster and are busy engaged preparing for the training season and perhaps a pennant.

One Cub Holdout

The Boston Red Sox likewise have all their men under contract and the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs each have only one player outside the fold. The Giants have yet to snare outfielder Len Koenecke and the Cubs are still awaiting for outfielder Vince Barton's contract. Barton, however, usually saves postage and appears at the training ground with his contract signed and sealed.

The Washington Senators, hoping to give the New York Yankees or anybody else a battle for the American League flag, have only four unsigned players—Manush, Moe Berg, Bob Burke and Bob Friedrich.

The outlook for the others, however, is not so rosy. Complete information is not available in view of the fact that a number of clubs the Phillies, Athletics, Browns, Cardinals, Tigers, Braves and the Reds, decline to confess which players are signed and which are not.

However, there is enough data on hand to indicate a serious situation, which probably will clarify itself in time.

Eleven Yanks Out

The Yankees have 11 unsigned players including Ruth, Gehrig, Dickey, Tony Lazzeri, Earle Combs, Charley Ruffing, Ben Chapman, Herb Pennock and Frank Crosetti. The Cleveland Indians still are arguing with Ferrell, Kamm, Hudlin, Dick Porter, Roy Spencer and three others of lesser importance while the Chicago White Sox, so far as public announcement goes, have not yet succeeded in getting

Hooks and Slides

By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The Fans of Flatbush are jaded, the National League is dazed, the Brooklyn management is dazed, and President Sam Bredon of the St. Louis Cardinals is dazed—not to mention the profound bewilderment of the old Dazzler, Dazy Vance.

The Dazzler, as much of an institution with the Brooklyn Dodgers as Uncle Wilbert Robinson used to be, awoke one morning recently, read the papers and found he had been traded, with Shortstop Gordon Slade, to the St. Louis Cardinals for Pitcher Owen Carroll and Infielder Jack Flowers. And so we find the Brooklyn club foisting on Sam Bredon a situation that calls for gentle manipulation, an art for which Mr. Bredon is noted.

CUTTING REMARKS—

The Flatbush club has been trying to slice Dazy's yearly stipend from $16,500 to $9,000. Naturally, it expected trouble when the old speedball artist was faced with such a slice.

And Sam Bredon got the trouble and a hurler who won 12 games while losing 11 last season.

SUCH STATISTICS—

It is not hard to picture Vance, with pencil in hand and the National League pitching averages spread on a table before him. The Dazzler's earned run average for last year, by the way, was 4.19, which was not so hot for a $16,500 pitcher. Also his percentage showed 12 games won against 11 lost, which also is not very tepid twirling for $16,500, the price of potatoes being what they are.

But it is a safe bet that Vance will find something in the figures with which to confound any Cardinal maneuver to cut his pay.

Two years ago, he demanded $25,000 from Brooklyn, which was countered with a proposal of $17,500. Uncle Wilbert Robinson used to argue the matter over pleasantly with Vance when the big fellow.

Evar Swanson, Chad Kinsey, Sam Jones, Luke Appling, Billy Sullivan and a couple of others to sign.

If the Athletics have any real salary problems they probably will center about George Earnshaw for it is understood that virtually all others are under contract. The St. Louis Browns are known to have signed only six players including Sam Grey, Jim Levey, Bruce Campbell, Muddy Ruel, Wally Hertz and one rookie. No information at all has come out of the Detroit Tigers' front office.

Fourteen Dodgers

Of National League clubs, the Brooklyn Dodgers have by far the largest hold-out list. The 14 players still unsigned include such well known figures as Hack Wilson, Stripp, Ray Benge, Al Lopez, Johnny Frederick and Danny Taylor.

Although Frisch is the sole known holdout, only Rogers Hornsby, George Watkins, Ernie Orsatti, Pepper Martin, Jess Haines, Jimmy Wilson and Charley Gelbert are known to have signed Cardinal contracts. The situation is somewhat similar at Cincinnati where the Reds are understood to have signed only four players yet only Lucas and Lombardi are definitely listed as dissatisfied. Jim Bottomley was a holdout but was understood to have agreed to a second offer.

Notwithstanding the imposing list of recalcitrant players, baseball observers expected history to repeat itself and find them all in the fold before the 1933 campaign opens. Most of them, in fact, probably will come to terms within the next couple of weeks.

Chicago, Feb. 17—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs have signed another recruit outfielder, Paul McCarron, who spent part of last season with the Albany-Reading club of the International League. McCarron, a left-handed batsman and thrower, started well for the International League club, but failed to finish the campaign, due to an attack of influenza.

Illinois Harness Racing Dates Set

Chicago, Feb. 17—(AP)—Racing dates for 1933 in Illinois are expected to be allotted tomorrow when the Illinois Turf Association holds its annual meeting.

Under the law the season opens

May 1, continuing until Oct. 31. Col. Matt P. Winn, representing the American Turf Association, owner of Lincoln Fields and Washington Park; John C. Shank of Hawthorne, Roy Carruthers, general manager of Arlington Park, all in Chicago; John T. Ireland, of Fairmont Park, Collinsville, Ill., and probably Edward Carruthers of Exposition Park Jockey Club, Aurora, Ill., will be present.

Sportsman's Park, the new half-mile track, will not be represented as it is not a member of the association. However, Sportsman's Park and the turf association have had no disagreement to date on the allotment of racing dates.

Aurora, which suspended last fall after attempting to run in opposition to Sportsman's Park, may not apply for dates tomorrow, or may agree to sell its allotment to a Chicago track.

in golfing togs with sky-blue stockings would visit the old Dodger training base at Clearwater.

IT WAS SO DIFFERENT—

In the year before Vance's earned run average had been 2.61 which is a fine and dandy earned run average, and the Dazzler had won 17 games against 15 lost, which is a lot of labor for any pitcher, the old boy having worked in 259 innings.

"Better sign," was Uncle Robbie's advice. "York won't stand for any more monkey business from you fellows." "Look at my earned run average," was Dazy's invariable reply. "And didn't I pack 'em in at Brooklyn and every place on the road?"

Vance stayed out that year until the team was on the way north. He met the club in Macon, Uncle Robbie called in the photographers and Dazy signed—for $23,000.

But Dazy didn't do $23,000 worth of pitching in 1931. He won 11 games, against 13 lost, and his earned run average per game went up to 3.37. He didn't have the figures to fight with, nor did he have Uncle Robbie to argue with.

It had been run arguing with Uncle Robbie, who usually gave him but Dazy found Max Carey a different kind of tomato.

Vance signed himself last year by signing in February. And taking a $7,000 cut! Was the man losing his punch?

A NEW THEME—

They offered Vance another $7,000 cut this year. And Dazy, with that awful 4.19 earned run average, is seriously handicapped for an argument. Accordingly his speech this year will be something like this:

"They counted me out of the picture in 1926, when my earned run average was 3.89, only a few points better than last year's. I was through, they figured. But the next year I came right back with an earned run average of 2.70 and won 16 games."

Bachman New Coach At Michigan State

East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 17—(AP)—Charles W. Bachman, former University of Florida football coach and exponent of the Notre Dame system, will succeed James H. Crowley as gridiron mentor at Michigan State College.

Agreement with the governing board of the college was reached late yesterday in a long distance telephone conversation with Bachman at Gainesville, Fla. The new coach comes to State without a contract. The amount of his salary was not divulged, but was believed to be about $6500 a year.

Crowley, now head coach at Fordham University, drew $8000 annually.

Manhattan Mushing

Central Park, New York—accustomed to limousines and perambulators—presented a new picture which led Gothamites agape when this dog sled team went mushing through the eight inch snow. Harry Wheeler is the musher and the dogs are Siberian huskies which will be entered in a dog show. Walter Herrick, park commissioner, is riding in the sled.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today — Gene

Venzke, the Pennsylvania school-boy runner, broke the record for the indoor mile at the New York A. C. met, dashing off the distance in 4:10. Leo Sexton, New York weight star, set a new record in the same meet, heaving the shot 52 feet 8 3/4 inches.

Five Years Ago Today — Clarence

Rowland, former White Sox pilot and umpire, was formally dropped from the National League staff. Eighteen thousand fans saw Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat, beat Sgt. Sammy Baker in a 10-rounder at New York.

Ten Years Ago Today — Charles

Jewtraw, Lake Placid, New York, skater, won the international amateur skating championship at St. John, N. B. Charley Paddeck, Pacific coast sprinter, knocked off the 100-yard dash in 9 4/5 seconds in Los Angeles.

Pick Athletes To Make European Trip

New York, Feb. 17—(AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union has selected a powerful seven-man track team to compete in Europe next summer.

Invitations to join the squad definitely have been accepted by Bill Carr, Olympic 400 meter champion, and Gene Venzke, world's indoor record holder at the mile, both of the University of Pennsylvania; Ben Eastman of Stanford; Jim Bausch, Olympic Decathlon champion; Ralph Metcalfe, crack Negro sprinter; and George Spitz, world's indoor high jump record holder. The seventh member of the team probably will be George Salin, Olympic high hurdles champion.

Team will leave for Europe immediately after the national championships at Chicago, and compete in Stockholm and probably in Germany, France and Italy as well.

Stagg Gives His Auto To U. Of C. Museum

Chicago, Feb. 17—(AP)—The famous old electric automobile which transported Amos Stagg about the University of Chicago campus, will not accompany him to the College of the Pacific—for it is going to the museum.

Still in active service, albeit getting on in years, Stagg turned it over to the Museum of Science and Industry.

He plans to use a "gas buggy" in California.

Chicago—A judge ruled that the $10,000 Francis K. Karel, 34, Chairman of the Board of the closed First American Bank & Trust Company of suburban Berwyn, said he contributed to a political fund was really used to bribe 13 Berwyn aldermen to rent a former bank building for city hall purposes. As a result Karel faces a prison sentence of from one to five years. Argument for a new trial will be heard March 3.

FUNERAL TODAY

Wrentham, Mass., Feb. 17—(AP)—Friends gathered today at the little white home Ernie Schaaf built with his fists. They came to pay parting homage to the broad-shouldered sailor whose struggle toward the pugilistic heights ended in death after a bout with Primo Carnera last Friday.

At 10 o'clock they planned to take him to St. Mary's church with six of his old pals walking beside the hearse. There a solemn high mass was to be sung for the youth who, they said, once wanted to be a priest. The Rev. Walter Mitchell, the pastor, was to officiate with the Rev. Remi B. Scheuwer of St. John's prep school, one of Schaaf's intimates, assisting.

Among the pall bearers selected were Jerry Buckley, brother of the fighter's manager and the trainer who often rubbed his tired and aching muscles. Another was Jack McCarthy, a stablemate and heavyweight of considerable note, who sparred with Schaaf in preparation for many of his bouts.

The three managers who guided boxing's "golden boy" were to be among the mourners: Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion and co-manager who carried the inert form from the ring of Madison Square Garden in New York; John Buckley, co-manager with Sharkey; Phil Schlossberg, old time fighter who took Ernie in charge when they were shipmates on the U. S. S. Denver.

The burial was to be in Foxboro. There a volunteer squad from the Boston Navy Yard planned to fire a salute and sound taps.

SCHAAF'S DEATH DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES, REPORT

Indications Are Swelling Of Brain Resulted In His Death

New York, Feb. 17—(AP)—Preliminary examination of the outer surfaces of the brain of Ernie Schaaf, heavyweight boxer who died Tuesday morning following a bout with Primo Carnera, have strengthened the belief of the Medical Examiner's office that death was due entirely to natural causes, and not the result of blows from the huge Italian's fists. The Associated Press learned from a reliable source today.

Although announcement scheduled yesterday by Dr. Charles W. Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, was postponed, it was learned that preliminary examination showed diffuse swelling of the brain, due to encephalitis, a condition which occurs occasionally following after influenza.

This conclusion, which in non-technical terms means that swelling of the brain, considerable in degree, was caused by inflammation of the entire brain surface that could have been caused by influenza, opposes the diagnosis of operating surgeons who said Schaaf died of hemorrhage and intracranial pressure, brought on by Carnera's blows.

Schaaf was knocked out by Carnera in the thirteenth round of a match last Friday night and died after an operation performed Monday to relieve pressure on the brain. He suffered an attack of influenza severe enough to require hospital treatment, about three weeks before the bout.

Schaaf was a native of New York, and had been a member of the Marine Corps during the World War and received the gold medal of the American Medical Association. The funeral was announced for Saturday.

Champaign — University of Illinois instructors and others on the staff whose annual salaries are more than $1,000 were informed by the Board of Trustees that their remuneration would be cut 10 per cent March 1 instead of July 1. The board said the cut would effect a saving of $2,500,000.

Springfield — Senator W. E. C. Clifford of Champaign, named to head the nine-man joint legislative committee to investigate trouble between Illinois miner unions, said the commission would get down to work next week. He said no definite plan of procedure had been worked out.

Chicago—More than a thousand school teachers assembled to pay tribute to Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who lay wounded by an assassin's bullet at Miami, Fla. A resolution was adopted praising Cermak for his efforts to obtain government funds to pay teachers their long due salaries.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Another fight to discard that most cherished of all congressional traditions—the rule of seniority—appears in the offing once more as the time draws nearer for the ascendancy of the Democrats to power.

Previous attempts haven't met with much success. Both houses of Congress have clung firmly to the belief that a good congressman is made largely by experience and practice.

A newly elected member of the house from Oklahoma by the name of Will Rogers is gunning against the rule of seniority this time. He has proposed a caucus of those who will sit in the house for the first time in the coming 73rd congress.

Value Of The Rule

Promoters, however, have been quick to see the value of the seniority rule once they have gained a secure footing in their district.

For when a congressman gets his constituents in the habit of returning him to capitol hill, as Champ Clark of Missouri, a former speaker of the house, expressed it: "He is as certain to rise as the sparks are to fly upward. No human power can keep him down." The situation will be different in the coming congress, however. The fact that there are so many candidates for speaker of the next house might work to their advantage.

Were these new members of the house—and they comprise roughly one-third of the whole—able to get together and present a united front in the speakership fight, they might be able to get somewhere. Voting as a unit or even nearly so they might cause the man they want to be elected.

Chances Are Slight

But even if the freshmen were to maneuver themselves into a position to make a drive against the time-honored seniority rule, the chances of success are against them. It has been too long established.

The fact that Harry Hawes of Missouri resigned his seat in the senate a month before his term was up for the sole purpose of giving his successor, young Champ Clark, seniority over those who will come in March 4th is evidence of how firmly the rule is embedded in the congressional scheme of things.
